

TRAVEL TEAMS: A PARENTS GUIDE

Participating on a Travel Team is a very rewarding experience. You may travel to interesting cities in California and possibly travel to other local states. When you agree to have your child participate on a Travel team, you agree to the following:

- Pay your share of the traveling teams expenses. The expenses can include, but is not limited to, the following:
  - Tournament fee's can range from $450-$750 per team per Tournament.
  - Participation in a tournament may require an overnight stay at a hotel.
  - Referee deposit's can be $150-$350 per team.

Other important factors one should consider if thinking of being on a Travel team:

- Players need to be at training at the designated time and location determined.
- Players need to participate in the Travel Team player evaluation day.
- Parents are encouraged to volunteer as a coach, assistant, team parent, referee.
- Not all players who express an interest in playing on a Travel team get to be on a team. The number of teams is directly related to how many coaches volunteer to coach a travel team.
- Coaches can't guarantee a player will be on his/her team.
- Coaches are not allowed to "Recruit" players. They can recommend that a player signs up to be on a Travel team, but they can't tell any player that they will be on his/her team.
- Team fundraising may help to offset costs.
